James
CHOCOLATES

Hello and welcome to James Chocolates

I started James Chocolates in 1995 to indulge my passions for good food, experimentation and chocolate. I saw a gap in the market for chocolates that are serious about quality but also about fun and enjoyment. The product range, branding and proposition all reflect these core values.

Over fifteen years on we are well established as one of the UK's leading quality chocolate makers. We help our customers stand out by offering quality products with proven sales history and fresh contemporary packaging that stands out on the shelf. Our investment in innovation, new products and customer service help us to maintain this position and ensure that James Chocolates will be a profitable and successful addition to a store's range.
